Petition to Accept Late Payment of Maintenance Fee

Events Related to the Delay in Paying the Maintenance Fee

The Patent Owner intended to maintain their patents. The maintenance fee was due on June 13, 2010.

The Patent Owner was expecting their former attorney Matthew Booth to handle maintenance fees and send them reminders. Although prior to January 1, 2008, a letter was sent by CPA to Palmchip Corporation asking Palmchip Corporation whether CPA should handle Palmchip Corporation's maintenance fees, the letter was inadvertently filed away without actually being read by the CFO or CEO. Although responding to the letter presumably would have resulted in CPA handling the maintenance fee, Palmchip Corporation did not receive any letter expressly reminding Palmchip Corporation to pay the maintenance fees, or informing Palmchip Corporation of when the fees would be due.

On July 20, 2010, in the course of negotiating the sale of the patents held by Palmchip Corporation, Jauher Zaidi was informed by the potential buyer that the above patent had expired and that the maintenance fee had not been paid (and Jauher Zaidi informed Maha Zaidi that their patent had expired).

On July 20, 2010, Maha Zaidi attempted to call the Law firm of Matthew J. Booth & Associates, PLLC, but no attorney returned her call to discuss the matter.

On July 21, 2010, Maha Zaidi sent an e-mail to the Law firm of Matthew J. Booth & Associates, PLLC, attempting to contact Mathew Booth to discuss the expired patents, but no attorney replied.

On July 21, 22, and 23, 2010 Maha Zaidi attempted to call the Law firm of Matthew J. Booth & Associates, PLLC, but no attorney returned her call to discuss the matter.

On July 23, 2010 (a Friday), Maha Zaidi contacted Palmchip Corporation's current representative to petition the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office to accept the late payment of the maintenance fee.

July 24 and July 25 were Saturday and Sunday.

On July 26, 2010 this petition was worked on by David Lewis.

On July 27, 2010 this petition was filed.

Summary of Reasons Why Delay was Inadvertent

Thus, although Palmchip Corporation never intended to allow the current patent to expire, Palmchip Corporation was relying on its attorney to take care of the maintenance fees. Although a letter was sent by CPA regarding handling maintenance fees, the letter from CPA was inadvertently filed without being read. Palmchip Corporation did not receive any specific reminder from their attorney Matthew Booth or CPA regarding paying the maintenance fee of the current patent, or the date the fees would be due. Consequently, Palmchip Corporation was not aware of the maintenance fee being due until July 20, 2010. Thus, the delay of payment between June 13, 2010 and July 20, 2010, was due to lack of knowledge, and was therefore inadvertent. From July 20, 2010, until July 23, 2010, the Palmchip Corporation was busy attempting to contact a Patent Attorney/Agent to take care of the problem, and from July 23, 2010 to July 27, 2010 this petition was being prepared. In other words, the delay between discovering that the patent was expired and filing the petition was only a few business days, and was being worked on during that time. Thus the delay between discovering the expiration and filing the petition was also inadvertent. Consequently, the entire delay in filing this petition and paying the maintenance fee was inadvertent.

It is the Applicant's understanding that all fees have been paid and that if an extension of time is necessary it has been requested. However, if that is incorrect, if an extension of time is necessary, an extension of time to at least the current date is hereby requested. The fee for the extension of time and any fees may be billed to the above account number, if (1) there is not a check enclosed that already covers the extension of time and/or the other fees, or (2) if a check was enclosed, but is insufficient to cover the extension of time and/or any other fees that may be due. Please charge any fees or any deficiency of fees that may be due (and that have not already been paid for in full here or elsewhere) to Deposit Account # 503345.

Please feel free to contact the Applicant's undersigned representative at 408-993-1800.

Respectfully Submitted,

David Lewis

Re: Monitoring and Payment of U.S. and Foreign Annuities

Dear Maha,

We have been informed by your intellectual property attorneys, Matthew Booth & Associates, PLLC, that your company has chosen Computer Patent Annuities Limited ("CPA") as your renewal services provider. In this capacity, CPA will be responsible for your patent portfolio as it relates to renewal payments on your behalf.

Attached are two (2) copies of the CPA Service Agreement for your review. Please review the documents, sign them and return the two (2) signed agreements to my attention via US mail. Upon receipt we will counter sign and return a fully executed original to your attention.

Please note, in order for CPA to assume responsibility for payment of the annuities as of January 1, 2008, the signed agreements must be returned to us within the next 15 business days. Therefore, we are asking that the signed agreements be returned by August 20, 2007.

Once we receive the signed agreements we will create an account with your contact information and related cases for ongoing renewal payments. CPA will be responsible for those renewals/maintenance fees due on or after January 1, 2008 only after the receipt of the signed agreements so it is imperative that the agreements are signed and returned to me by August 20, 2007. Upon account set up we will also send you a CPA Welcome Pack with complete details of your account and contact details. Prior to CPA making any renewal payments on your behalf, you will need to confirm the case details we provide you for accuracy and completeness.

After we have initiated our services Matthew Booth & Associates will cease reporting new filings, new case data and case amendments to CPA on your behalf. You will need to report any new filings, new grant details and case amendments to CPA directly.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding the agreement or questions about CPA, please do not hesitate to contact me directly; my contact information is listed below. Thank you in advance for your attention in this matter. I look forward to hearing from you soon.
